FINANCE FOR FOOD

Microfinance and sustainable finance for the right to food and nutrition

“Finance for food” is a series of five seminars, promoted by RITMI and the Italian Sustainable Investment Forum (FFS), which aims to identify and highlight the best practices in financing food security and sustainable agriculture, both at national and international level. Conducted with a very pragmatic approach, the meetings are intended to identify the best financing tools to foster the development of agriculture and rural areas globally and – above all - in the emerging countries. Moreover, the meetings will focus on the integration of environmental social and governance (ESG) criteria within the investment strategy, with particular reference to companies in the food sector and to agricultural commodities.
